

Google Play Store app Rating

Problem Statement

Google Play store apps are downloaded based on the ratings by users. Hence the rating is very important feature for any app on the play store. Lets try to predict the rating based on severale parameters using the data collected from Google llc.

Dataset

This information is scraped from the Google Play Store. This app information would not be available without it. Each app (row) has values for catergory, rating, size, and more.